Dear NCHS Family,

We understand that many students wish to tour college campuses to aid in deciding whether to apply. We just want to remind students that these are the current protocols when traveling out-of-state.

If you travel and return within one 24 hour period, there is no need to quarantine

If you travel to a 'hot state' for longer than 24 hours, upon return, you must either quarantine for 14 days or take a COVID test within 72 hours of your return and receive a negative result before returning to school. Here is the most current list of states that are considered 'hot'. <https://portal.ct.gov/Coronavirus/travel>

Instead of visiting, it is advised to continue to use virtual tours and independent ratings to evaluate schools. Colleges have enriched their websites and offer a multitude of options that include speaking to students, touring individual departments, and connecting with admissions representatives to more fully understand campus life. Many colleges have found that students are taking more time to delve into all that they offer than the typical 2-hour tour ever provided.
